

Apache News Online: Apache Qpid

Table of contents

29 January 2009 - Apache Qpid M4 Now Available.....	2
[FROM EDITOR] Sorry, I could not catch up with new TLPs in The Apache Software Foundation.....	2

29 January 2009 - Apache Qpid M4 Now Available

The Apache Qpid community is pleased to announce the release of Apache Qpid M4! Apache Qpid (<http://qpid.apache.org>) is a cross platform enterprise messaging solution which implements the Advanced Message Queueing Protocol (<http://www.amqp.org>). It provides brokers written in Java and C++ and clients in C++, Java (including a JMS implementation), .Net, Python, and Ruby. New features included in this release are: * .NET, WCF and excel support for AMQP 0-10 * SSL added for C++ broker and all clients * Windows port for C++ client & broker * C++ Broker o ACL o Active-Active clustering o Federation, push bridges & dynamic routes o RDMA for C++ broker & C++ client (70-80us, yes us max latency on a well setup machines) o support for message TTL o Queue options + added RING/ STRICT ring + LVQ o Exchange options + LVE + message sequencing o XQuery based XML Exchange now as plugin * Performance work * Management for AMQP 0-10 o QMF C updates + Python + C++ o QMF Agent + C++ o QMan JMX bridge for QMF o Alerts/ logger for QMF events * JMSXUserId * Java broker o Message Priority o bug fixes o some prep work for AMQP 0-10 It is available to download from: <http://www.apache.org/dist/qpid/M4/> Complete release notes are available here:

<https://issues.apache.org/jira/secure/ReleaseNote.jspa?projectId=12310520&styleName=Html&view=html>

Note:

Apache Qpid -- Posted by Tetsuya Kitahata at 2009-01-29T10:32:39

[FROM EDITOR] Sorry, I could not catch up with new TLPs in The Apache Software Foundation

Apache Abdera

Apache Camel

Apache CouchDB

Apache Qpid

Note:

Apache Software Foundation -- Posted by Tetsuya Kitahata at 2009-01-24T05:56:09